

Charne Scuch

A passion for working with different people and being exposed to a variety of cultures was the reason that Charne Scuch decided to pursue a career in hospitality.

Her inherent talents and flair for this career were recently recognised when Charne won the State division of the Student Waiter of the Year. Next year, Charne will compete in Brisbane and, if she qualifies for the national team, will represent Australia in the Worldskills competition to be held in London in 2011.

Commenting on her experiences as a student Charne said, “I’ve really enjoyed the opportunity to study at the South West Regional College of where the interaction with other students and the lecturers has been immensely beneficial and has enhanced my capacity to achieve my goals.”

Currently studying the Certificate IV in Hospitality (Supervision) Charne is hoping to progress her studies with a view to specialising in event management. Longer term goals include working in larger hotels and travelling internationally.
